

UNIVERSITYof
TASMANIA

You are invited to participate in the Tasmanian Feasibility Study: Needs assessment and feasibility study into the potential for a Veteran Wellbeing Services to be located in Tasmania. The study is funded by the Department of Veterans' Affairs and the Tasmanian Government's Department of Communities and is being undertaken to seek the feedback and opinions of key stakeholders to inform future decisions about service delivery for veterans and their families in Tasmania. The University of Tasmania had been engaged to conduct this work. Veteran wellbeing support services focus on coordinating and integrating essential services that improve or help maintain veterans and their family's wellbeing. In this study we are also interested in understanding not only perspectives of Veterans and their families but also areas of crossover for first responders.

In this project we are seeking to understand:

- The current services available in Tasmania - including how they are accessed by veterans and families and where appropriate first responders,
- Perceived service gaps in meeting the needs of veterans, their family members and first responders
- Service features that will best address the wellbeing needs of veterans, their families, and where appropriate first responders.

How can you be involved?

We are seeking as many people as possible to complete the online survey so please share this invitation and go to <https://surveys2.utas.edu.au/index.php/894443?lang=en>

There are also a number of opportunities also for you to participate in workshops and group interviews. This information can also be accessed at: <https://www.utas.edu.au/rural-health/feasibility-study>

If you have any further questions, please feel free to contact veteran.consultation@utas.edu.au or Professor Christine Stirling, Ph: 03 62264678; or Associate Professor Melanie Greenwood P: 03 6226 4732
E: melanie.greenwood@utas.edu.au

Thank you for your consideration.

Kind Regards

Professor Christine Stirling